Norval

Discover Norval, a historic village nestled in the valley of the beautiful Credit River and a long-time home of Lucy Maud (L.M.) Montgomery, author of Anne of Green Gables.

The L.M. Montgomery Garden is a public garden, which blooms with colour from spring to late fall. The village also honours the famed author's birthday with their annual Montgomery Christmas celebration in late November. Visit www.lmmontgomerynorval.com

Adjacent to the garden is the Credit River and the Willow Park Ecology Centre. It exists to educate schoolchildren and the general public about ecology and the environment through programs and events, and to provide natural habitat for wildlife in the ravine at the confluence of the Credit River and Silver Creek. At the park you can enjoy a Butterfly Garden, Snake Hibernaculum, a wetland environment, a woodland restoration and the Robert Noble Tree Trail.

Rich in History

Limehouse

Another interesting village is Limehouse. Nestled on the Niagara Escarpment its history is intertwined with the mining of limestone and making fly ash for concrete. The limestone was burned in kilns to extract the ash and remnants of the kilns exist today and are part of the Limehouse Conservation Area.

Nature
at its Best

Niagara Escarpment

One of the most striking features in Halton Hills is the Niagara Escarpment which traverses the heart of Halton Hills.

The escarpment is 725 km long starting at Niagara Falls and rises 510 metres above sea level, the Halton Hills section is the closest to Toronto. Facilities for skiing, hiking, camping and numerous conservation areas are within a short driving distance from Halton Hills. Visit www.niagaraescarpment.org

The Bruce Trail, which is comprised of public and private lands, follows the escarpment through its length. The Trail is well-marked and provides access over fences and river crossings bringing hikers close to nature. The Bruce Trail in Halton Hills starts just north of Milton and goes in a north east direction through the villages of Speyside, Limehouse, Silver Creek and Terra Cotta. You can choose a portion of the Trail that suits your skill level. Visit www.bruce-trail.org

Our Rural Roots

Diversity in Nature

Halton Hills is one of the largest agricultural areas in the Greater Toronto Area and is strategically located to allow our farm operations to serve over 5 million consumers. It's easy to eat local, either pick-your-own or at the Farmers' Markets.

There are two Farmers' Markets in Halton Hills, starting in June through to the fall. Visit Acton on Thursdays from 3-7 p.m., or Georgetown on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Each week you'll discover new produce, baked goods and meat products fresh from the farm. The Farmers' Markets are local gathering places where you'll get service with a smile, and enjoy the sights and sounds of a true small town experience. If you want to get your hands dirty you can visit a number of pick-your-own farms in Halton Hills.

Agriculture is not just about food; Halton Hills also has a thriving horticultural sector including one of our largest employers, Sheridan Nurseries. If you are thinking about landscaping visit one of our many nurseries.

There are a number of equine operations that you can choose for horseback riding, horse shows or racing. To get update information or questions dial 311 or visit www.halton.ca/simplylocal
